

Name: Brother Thomas T. Quattlebaum

Current Foundation Position: President

Brief Professional Background:

Thomas Quattlebaum was born, raised and educated in Albany, NY. He is a graduate of Siena College, where he received his Bachelor of Science in Physics, with a concentration in Mathematics. Thomas has a MBA in Marketing & Management Information Systems as well as a Master's of Science in Industrial and Management Engineering. Both degrees are from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, RPI located in Troy, NY. These advanced degrees were obtained while working full time with IBM Corporation, and while traveling on national projects and having global commitments.

Thomas was recruited to IBM Corporation upon graduating from Siena College and was employed there for over 15 years. Brother Quattlebaum was employed by the IBM, where he worked within the Professional Services Consulting Division. He has had roles ranging for sales individual contributor, project lead consultant, solution design & technical integration manager, Sales Manager, Divisional Sales Director and National Solution manages, where you design a solution, then implement for a client. For the past 11 years Brother Quattlebaum has been employed at SAS Institute, headquarters in Cary, NC, where he currently serves as the Strategic Relationship Director for SAS to several technology companies like; Microsoft, Intel, EMC, Dell & Cisco.

He was inducted into Omega Psi Phi Fraternity on April 19, 1985 through Nu Tau Chapter in Albany, NY. Since coming to Tau Lambda Lambda in 2009, Quattlebaum has worked diligently on several committees and has been committed in his support of Chapter initiatives. He can be counted on to bring innovative ideas to leverage community resources in an effort to increase Chapter revenue for supporting scholarships and promoting visibility within the community. Thomas is married to the beautiful Lesley J. Quattlebaum and is the father of two wonderful children, Masalius (12) and Thomas Quincy (4).

Reason why you are with the Foundation: Thomas Quattlebaum, this past July was elected as the President of the John Lancaster & W. Cecil Short Charity Foundation. In addition, Bro, Quattlebaum just complete a successful year leading the Ways & Means committee, to a few outstanding years in fund raising. While this committee was under his leadership, the Chapter has raised over $32,000 in funds for the chapter to realize in future years for scholarships and community outreach projects.